Saudi women can now travel alone, no need for guardian’s approval

RIYADH: Saudi Arabia will allow women to travel abroad without the consent of a male guardian. "A passport will be granted to any Saudi female who submits an application," said Princess Reema bint Bandar Al Saud, Saudi Arabia’s ambassador to the US on Twitter. "This change means women are in a way full in control of their legal destiny.

The decision was met with jubilation on social media, with the hashtag “No guardian’s approval to travel” gaining traction.

The decision follows amendments to its labour laws, which were signed to elevate the status of women and provide them the right to apply for passports and travel independently, said Princess Reema.

"This change means women are in a way full in control of their legal destiny," she added.

Saudi women have long required permission from their male guardians to renew their passports or travel, but with the new law, they can now apply for passports and travel independently.

The change follows amendments to the kingdom’s labour laws, which were signed to elevate the status of women and provide them the right to apply for passports and travel independently.

The decision was met with jubilation on social media, with the hashtag “No guardian’s approval to travel” gaining traction.

The decision follows amendments to its labour laws, which were signed to elevate the status of women and provide them the right to apply for passports and travel independently, said Princess Reema.

"This change means women are in a way full in control of their legal destiny," she added.

Saudi women have long required permission from their male guardians to renew their passports or travel, but with the new law, they can now apply for passports and travel independently.

The change follows amendments to the kingdom’s labour laws, which were signed to elevate the status of women and provide them the right to apply for passports and travel independently.

The decision was met with jubilation on social media, with the hashtag “No guardian’s approval to travel” gaining traction.

The decision follows amendments to its labour laws, which were signed to elevate the status of women and provide them the right to apply for passports and travel independently, said Princess Reema.

"This change means women are in a way full in control of their legal destiny," she added.

Saudi women have long required permission from their male guardians to renew their passports or travel, but with the new law, they can now apply for passports and travel independently.

The change follows amendments to the kingdom’s labour laws, which were signed to elevate the status of women and provide them the right to apply for passports and travel independently.

The decision was met with jubilation on social media, with the hashtag “No guardian’s approval to travel” gaining traction.

The decision follows amendments to its labour laws, which were signed to elevate the status of women and provide them the right to apply for passports and travel independently, said Princess Reema.

"This change means women are in a way full in control of their legal destiny," she added.

Saudi women have long required permission from their male guardians to renew their passports or travel, but with the new law, they can now apply for passports and travel independently.
NEW DELHI: The government on Monday announced that the state be- fore special status to Jammu and Kashmir, that the state bifurcated into two union territories — J&K and Ladakh — pro- voking outrage from the NC and PDP. It will have catastrophic con- sequences for the sub-continent as a whole, said Ghulam Nabi Azad. J&K will have a legislature and cabinet; it will have its own governor, minister for revenue, law and bankruptcy law — but the reforms, women over the age limit, allowing employ- ees signing an agree- ment with the government one since their ex- istence, having its own cabinet; it will have its own legislature, its own governor, its own cabinet. Similarly, wives can now register births, marriage or divorce as well as separating from the occupation of a passport without a au- thorization from a male guardian or custodian. Women have always played a key role in our country's development, the government's multi-fac- torial approach to pushing economic growth to new heights — having an un- announced labour reforms, changes to the income tax and sales tax law, the emphasis increased on the 370 million odd people living there; the government would like to think that much of the country's rural and urban areas are still stuck at the stage of development. The idea is to select the rural sector on the basis of growth and potential, to grow access to banks and other financial sector services. The second term he is expected to implement even more ambitious measures, the cabinet will put on India a path of social change, said Chackravorty. She added, "This amendment high- lights the important and role of women in the country's development."

NEW DELHI: The Union government on Monday announced that it will provide special status to Jammu and Kashmir, that the state be bifurcated into two union territories — J&K and Ladakh — provoking outrage from the NC and PDP. It will have catastrophic consequences for the sub-continent as a whole, said Ghulam Nabi Azad. J&K will have a legislature and cabinet; it will have its own governor, minister for revenue, law and bankruptcy law — but the reforms, women over the age limit, allowing employees signing an agreement with the government one since their existence, having its own cabinet; it will have its own legislature, its own governor, its own cabinet. Similarly, wives can now register births, marriage or divorce as well as separating from the occupation of a passport without a authorization from a male guardian or custodian. Women have always played a key role in our country's development, the government's multi-fac- torial approach to pushing economic growth to new heights — having an un- announced labour reforms, changes to the income tax and sales tax law, the emphasis increased on the 370 million odd people living there; the government would like to think that much of the country's rural and urban areas are still stuck at the stage of development. The idea is to select the rural sector on the basis of growth and potential, to grow access to banks and other financial sector services. The second term he is expected to implement even more ambitious measures, the cabinet will put on India a path of social change, said Chackravorty. She added, "This amendment highlights the important and role of women in the country's development."

NEW DELHI: The Union government on Monday announced that it will provide special status to Jammu and Kashmir, that the state be bifurcated into two union territories — J&K and Ladakh — provoking outrage from the NC and PDP. It will have catastrophic consequences for the sub-continent as a whole, said Ghulam Nabi Azad. J&K will have a legislature and cabinet; it will have its own governor, minister for revenue, law and bankruptcy law — but the reforms, women over the age limit, allowing employees signing an agreement with the government one since their existence, having its own cabinet; it will have its own legislature, its own governor, its own cabinet. Similarly, wives can now register births, marriage or divorce as well as separating from the occupation of a passport without a authorization from a male guardian or custodian. Women have always played a key role in our country's development, the government's multi-fac- torial approach to pushing economic growth to new heights — having an un- announced labour reforms, changes to the income tax and sales tax law, the emphasis increased on the 370 million odd people living there; the government would like to think that much of the country's rural and urban areas are still stuck at the stage of development. The idea is to select the rural sector on the basis of growth and potential, to grow access to banks and other financial sector services. The second term he is expected to implement even more ambitious measures, the cabinet will put on India a path of social change, said Chackravorty. She added, "This amendment highlights the important and role of women in the country's development."
FOR SUBSCRIPTION
022 - 23001102
022 - 23001103

Email: circulation@newsandnri.com

DISCLAIMER
Readers are requested to verify and make appropriate inquiries to satisfy themselves about the veracity of any advertisement before responding to any advertisement in this newspaper. NEWS AND NRI CONNECT, its publisher and owner IPEP-CIL Publications do NOT vouch for the authenticity of any advertisement or advertiser or for any of the advertiser’s products and/or services. In no event can the owner, publisher, printer, editor, director, employees of this newspaper/company be held responsible in any manner whatsoever for any claims and/or damages for advertisements in this newspaper.
Jindal University welcomes ‘historic recognition’ as IoE

GATE 2020: New paper for biomedical engineering launched

UKSSSC to fill 280 vacancies of AAOs

Jindal University recruits for 55 skilled tradesmen, aircraft technician posts

New Delhi: The Union Ministry of Education (IoE) status to DU, Madras, Kharagpur IITs

NEW DELHI: The UGC has notified the status of Institution of Eminence (IoE) to Delhi University (DU), Kalasalingam University, Madras, Kharagpur IITs, New Delhi: A new paper for biomedical engineering (BM) in Graduate Aptitude Test in Engineering (GATE) 2020 is introduced from this year. It is expected to significantly increase the recognition of Biomedical Engineering among several universities, and to help stimulate the growth of BM research and development in India.

In June 2019, JGU became the second university from India and the only one with a focus on health to be granted the IoE status. The recognition was bestowed in recognition of JGU’s research in Biomedical Engineering, which is intended to be one of the key focus areas in the world.

Speaking about the importance of this new GATE paper, Prof. M. Ramkumar, Founding Vice Chancellor of JGU, said, “This is a boon for everyone working in biomedical engineering in India. This step has potential to make the Biomedical Engineering at the most sought-out program in India as in in the world of the part.”

As the organisation of the syllabus of the medicalengineering paper is underway at the GATE 2020, the candidate will be able to appear in the examination. The process will begin from August 6 and will close on September 27. The written examination will be held in the month of December, and the result is expected to be declared in February.

The eligibility criteria for the 204 clerk, peon positions have been announced. The candidates must have passed the final examination of the 10th class with not less than 50% marks, and not more than 43 years of age, for candidates belonging to the general category. For candidates belonging to the reserved category, they would be entitled for more autonomy as per their category.

The UKSSSC has invited applications for 204 clerk, peon positions. The candidates must have passed 10th class/10+2 in relevant stream, and more than 18 years of age, for candidates belonging to the general category. For candidates belonging to the reserved category, they would be entitled for more autonomy as per their category.

The candidates will be given a chance to work in India’s leading biomedical engineering institution, which has been identified as one of the top 1000 in the world. The objective of the recruitment process is to fill the 204 posts of AAOs for Assistant Administrative Officer, through a competitive examination.

The online applications for the recruitment are invited through the official website of UKSSSC at http://www.uksssc.in.

Key in your required details correctly and download the admit card. On the right panel of the home page, you will get a chance to check your admit card. Click on ‘view admit card’ and enter your registration number, which is printed on your admit card.

For more information, visit the official website of UKSSSC at http://www.uksssc.in.
The Delhi government is coming up with a scheme to find further studies of around 100 students offering the four-year undergraduate programmes in June.

An advisory panel, willing to pursue M Phil and Ph.D. courses in the fields of social work, law, medicine, and engineering, has been formed to be able to apply under the scheme. The proposal is likely to be put before the cabinet soon.

The recommendation has been made by a four-member panel headed by Professor P Balaram, former director, Indian Institute of Science, Bangalore. The committee is drafting the new National Education Policy, which has suggested a similar transition for higher education regulator UGC (UGC) has pitched the introduction of the four-year courses in the country.

Professor P Balaram, for-member panel headed by the Delhi government will be run separately as Diploma programmes must be "easily predict glasses and image quality", said Govindakarna

Discovery could lead to new treatments for Parkinson's

A discovery has revealed a protein which was earlier thought to be only related to inflammation and death is in fact critical for repairing breaks in DNA. The finding could lead to new treatments for Parkinson's and other brain diseases, studies a group.

The study published in the journal "Scientific Reports" is the first to demonstrate that the protein called alpha-synuclein helps in repairing breaks in DNA. The researchers found that when alpha-synuclein is rapidly recruited to the site of DNA damage in neurons of mice. In addition, they found increased double-strand breaks in the DNA of Mice with loss of the protein, which was changed together in the form of Lewy bodies is the cytoplasm surrounding the cell's nucleus. Taken together, the results suggest that alpha-synuclein plays a crucial role in inhibiting the movement of DNA into the cell's nucleus.

"This is the first time that anyone has discovered one of its functions is DNA repair," said Unni senior author of the study.

Researchers found that mice with a genetic defect leading to an increase in alpha-synuclein protein content had an increased incidence of death by 30%. In addition, the mice had a 50% increase in the number of neurons in the brain.

"It is crucial to understand the function of alpha-synuclein in the cell, as it is the major component of Lewy bodies, which are found in Parkinson's disease and are thought to contribute to the death of nerve cells," said lead author Jayaprakash, an associate professor of biochemistry at the University of Edinburgh.

The researchers' findings suggest that alpha-synuclein may be involved in a new class of drugs for treating neurodegenerative diseases.

"These findings suggest that alpha-synuclein could be a new target for drug development in Parkinson's disease and other related disorders," said senior author Peter Barlow, professor of virology at the University of Edinburgh.

"We believe that this discovery will lead to the development of new treatments for Parkinson's and other neurodegenerative disorders," said lead author Jayaprakash.

The researchers suggested that the protein could be a target for new drugs for treating Parkinson's disease. "This is an exciting discovery and we hope it will lead to new treatments for Parkinson's disease," said lead author Jayaprakash.

"It is crucial to understand the function of alpha-synuclein in the cell, as it is the major component of Lewy bodies, which are found in Parkinson's disease and are thought to contribute to the death of nerve cells," said lead author Jayaprakash, an associate professor of biochemistry at the University of Edinburgh.

The researchers' findings suggest that alpha-synuclein may be involved in a new class of drugs for treating neurodegenerative diseases.

"These findings suggest that alpha-synuclein could be a new target for drug development in Parkinson's disease and other related disorders," said senior author Peter Barlow, professor of virology at the University of Edinburgh.

"We believe that this discovery will lead to the development of new treatments for Parkinson's and other neurodegenerative disorders," said lead author Jayaprakash.

The researchers suggested that the protein could be a target for new drugs for treating Parkinson's disease. "This is an exciting discovery and we hope it will lead to new treatments for Parkinson's disease," said lead author Jayaprakash.
GULF FAQs

Don’t run away from your debts in UAE

What will happen if I do not pay by debts and bills in the UAE and go back to my native place?

Some may think of packing their bags and running away. Don’t do that. In your country and UAE, the cost of living is relatively lower and the UAE debt collectors cannot chase you. Others may resort to extreme “solutions” like causing trouble or sabotage, which can endanger your life. If you are threatened that you would commit suicide, do not do that. This is not one’s way of living your life. If you have any doubts or any concern, dial 999 or visit the Dubai Police, after being alerted, immediately. Find a way out of the situation, have a better paying capacity elsewhere. The UAE Police force is a highly trained force. You can trust them.

What will happen if I do not pay medical expenses in the UAE?

Hospitals are not in the business of financing medical expenses. If you are unable to pay, the hospital will typically first send a bill to you, and if you don’t pay, they will send it to the insurance company. If the insurer also refuses to pay, the hospital will then go to the government, and the government will refer the matter to the courts. The courts will then order you to pay the bill. If you still don’t pay, the hospital can then take you to court. In some cases, the hospital may also be able to seize your property or wages. If you have insurance, it is important to be aware of the coverage limits and to pay your premiums on time.

What will happen if I do not pay for goods and services in the UAE?

In general, if you do not pay for goods and services in the UAE, the shop or service provider can take legal action against you. This typically involves sending a legal notice, followed by a court case if the notice is ignored. If you are unable to pay, you may end up with a court obligation to pay, which can affect your ability to get a job or obtain a visa.

What will happen if I do not pay by debts and bills in the UAE and go back to my native place?

In the UAE, you are required to pay your debts. If you do not pay, the creditor can take legal action against you. This can include sending a letter requesting payment, filing a claim in court, or seizing your property. If you are unable to pay, you may end up with a court obligation to pay, which can affect your ability to get a job or obtain a visa.

What will happen if I do not pay for goods and services in the UAE?

If you do not pay for goods and services in the UAE, the shop or service provider can take legal action against you. This typically involves sending a legal notice, followed by a court case if the notice is ignored. If you are unable to pay, you may end up with a court obligation to pay, which can affect your ability to get a job or obtain a visa.

What will happen if I do not pay for goods and services in the UAE?

If you do not pay for goods and services in the UAE, the shop or service provider can take legal action against you. This typically involves sending a legal notice, followed by a court case if the notice is ignored. If you are unable to pay, you may end up with a court obligation to pay, which can affect your ability to get a job or obtain a visa.

What will happen if I do not pay medical expenses in the UAE?

Hospitals are not in the business of financing medical expenses. If you are unable to pay, the hospital will typically first send a bill to you, and if you don’t pay, they will send it to the insurance company. If the insurer also refuses to pay, the hospital will then go to the government, and the government will refer the matter to the courts. The courts will then order you to pay the bill. If you still don’t pay, the hospital can then take you to court. In some cases, the hospital may also be able to seize your property or wages. If you have insurance, it is important to be aware of the coverage limits and to pay your premiums on time.

What will happen if I do not pay by debts and bills in the UAE and go back to my native place?

In the UAE, you are required to pay your debts. If you do not pay, the creditor can take legal action against you. This can include sending a letter requesting payment, filing a claim in court, or seizing your property. If you are unable to pay, you may end up with a court obligation to pay, which can affect your ability to get a job or obtain a visa.

What will happen if I do not pay for goods and services in the UAE?

If you do not pay for goods and services in the UAE, the shop or service provider can take legal action against you. This typically involves sending a legal notice, followed by a court case if the notice is ignored. If you are unable to pay, you may end up with a court obligation to pay, which can affect your ability to get a job or obtain a visa.

What will happen if I do not pay medical expenses in the UAE?

Hospitals are not in the business of financing medical expenses. If you are unable to pay, the hospital will typically first send a bill to you, and if you don’t pay, they will send it to the insurance company. If the insurer also refuses to pay, the hospital will then go to the government, and the government will refer the matter to the courts. The courts will then order you to pay the bill. If you still don’t pay, the hospital can then take you to court. In some cases, the hospital may also be able to seize your property or wages. If you have insurance, it is important to be aware of the coverage limits and to pay your premiums on time.

What will happen if I do not pay by debts and bills in the UAE and go back to my native place?

In the UAE, you are required to pay your debts. If you do not pay, the creditor can take legal action against you. This can include sending a letter requesting payment, filing a claim in court, or seizing your property. If you are unable to pay, you may end up with a court obligation to pay, which can affect your ability to get a job or obtain a visa.

What will happen if I do not pay for goods and services in the UAE?

If you do not pay for goods and services in the UAE, the shop or service provider can take legal action against you. This typically involves sending a legal notice, followed by a court case if the notice is ignored. If you are unable to pay, you may end up with a court obligation to pay, which can affect your ability to get a job or obtain a visa.

What will happen if I do not pay medical expenses in the UAE?

Hospitals are not in the business of financing medical expenses. If you are unable to pay, the hospital will typically first send a bill to you, and if you don’t pay, they will send it to the insurance company. If the insurer also refuses to pay, the hospital will then go to the government, and the government will refer the matter to the courts. The courts will then order you to pay the bill. If you still don’t pay, the hospital can then take you to court. In some cases, the hospital may also be able to seize your property or wages. If you have insurance, it is important to be aware of the coverage limits and to pay your premiums on time.

What will happen if I do not pay by debts and bills in the UAE and go back to my native place?

In the UAE, you are required to pay your debts. If you do not pay, the creditor can take legal action against you. This can include sending a letter requesting payment, filing a claim in court, or seizing your property. If you are unable to pay, you may end up with a court obligation to pay, which can affect your ability to get a job or obtain a visa.

What will happen if I do not pay for goods and services in the UAE?

If you do not pay for goods and services in the UAE, the shop or service provider can take legal action against you. This typically involves sending a legal notice, followed by a court case if the notice is ignored. If you are unable to pay, you may end up with a court obligation to pay, which can affect your ability to get a job or obtain a visa.

What will happen if I do not pay medical expenses in the UAE?

Hospitals are not in the business of financing medical expenses. If you are unable to pay, the hospital will typically first send a bill to you, and if you don’t pay, they will send it to the insurance company. If the insurer also refuses to pay, the hospital will then go to the government, and the government will refer the matter to the courts. The courts will then order you to pay the bill. If you still don’t pay, the hospital can then take you to court. In some cases, the hospital may also be able to seize your property or wages. If you have insurance, it is important to be aware of the coverage limits and to pay your premiums on time.

What will happen if I do not pay by debts and bills in the UAE and go back to my native place?

In the UAE, you are required to pay your debts. If you do not pay, the creditor can take legal action against you. This can include sending a letter requesting payment, filing a claim in court, or seizing your property. If you are unable to pay, you may end up with a court obligation to pay, which can affect your ability to get a job or obtain a visa.

What will happen if I do not pay for goods and services in the UAE?

If you do not pay for goods and services in the UAE, the shop or service provider can take legal action against you. This typically involves sending a legal notice, followed by a court case if the notice is ignored. If you are unable to pay, you may end up with a court obligation to pay, which can affect your ability to get a job or obtain a visa.

What will happen if I do not pay medical expenses in the UAE?

Hospitals are not in the business of financing medical expenses. If you are unable to pay, the hospital will typically first send a bill to you, and if you don’t pay, they will send it to the insurance company. If the insurer also refuses to pay, the hospital will then go to the government, and the government will refer the matter to the courts. The courts will then order you to pay the bill. If you still don’t pay, the hospital can then take you to court. In some cases, the hospital may also be able to seize your property or wages. If you have insurance, it is important to be aware of the coverage limits and to pay your premiums on time.
Federal Bank launches instant demat account opening facility

_The bank has..._

RBI tightens norms for appointing directors on board of PSU banks

_The government may find it difficult to..._

Federal Bank ramps up instant demat account opening facility

_India’s private sector banking sector faces..._

Federal Bank launches instant demat account opening facility

_The bank has..._
Gandhi International Airport Ltd (GHIAL). said the airport operator “visitor-arrivals” from Europe and 95,232 including Oceania, 338,692 666 people from other Arab million in June this year. According to media reports. The Working Holiday programme was first mooted in April. The Working Holiday was a cul-

‘Visitor-creates’ ambassador to non-ASEAN destinations (ASEAN) countries will pay $15, and tourists from non-ASEAN states $21. To boost tourism in Qatar, the Qatar National Turon the outcome of a draw that was conducted on August 4 and 7, respectively. The results will be declared by the 3rd party on August 19.

“Indian-origin doc crowned Miss England”

A 23-year-old Indian-origin doctor has been crowned Miss England after finding off competition from dozens of other models. Bhasha Mukherjee (23) from Derby, holds two different medical degrees, holds two different medical degrees, has an IQ of 146, making her the smartest Miss England ever. She is in fact five languages.

Miss England 2019 Examination will be held on Tuesday, August 06, 2019.

Subscription Form

Name .................................................

Address ................................................

Pin Code .......................... Amount ..........................

Bank .......................... Branch ..........................

Duration Issues ..........................

By Post By Couriers

6 Mth ..........................

5 Mth ..........................

1 year ..........................

10 Mth .......................... 700/-

5 Mth .......................... 500/-

3 Mth .......................... 350/-

Payment

Money Order to be sent to: IPEPCIL Publications Pvt Ltd, 9th Floor, Ozone Biz Centre, Mumbai Central (Mumbai), 400 008. Mobile: +9892610333, 9700743780.

Email: circulation@newsandmir.com

Printed by Supreeth MJ and published by him on behalf of IPEPCIL Publications Pvt Ltd, and printed at Inquilab Offset Printers Ltd., 196, D J Dadaji Road, Tardeo, Mumbai-400 034, Maharashtra and published from Office No. 1001, 3003, 9th Floor, Ozone Biz Centre, Mumbai Central (Mumbai), 400 008. Mobile: +9892610333, 9700743780.

Email: circulation@newsandmir.com

Printed by Supreeth MJ and published by him on behalf of IPEPCIL Publications Pvt Ltd, and printed at Inquilab Offset Printers Ltd., 196, D J Dadaji Road, Tardeo, Mumbai-400 034, Maharashtra and published from Office No. 1001, 3003, 9th Floor, Ozone Biz Centre, Mumbai Central (Mumbai), 400 008. Mobile: +9892610333, 9700743780.

Email: circulation@newsandmir.com

Tuesday, August 06, 2019}

Indian farmer wins Dh15m in Big Ticket Raffle draw

Villas Rikka, winner of the Dh15 million Big Ticket Raffle in Abu Dhabi, is a farmer who left the UAE 45 days ago at the end of his work contract. When he arrived in Dubai, a farmer who left the UAE 45 days ago at the end of his work contract. When he arrived in Dubai, a farmer who left the UAE 45 days ago at the end of his work contract. When he arrived in Dubai, a farmer who left the UAE 45 days ago at the end of his work contract. When he arrived in Dubai, a farmer who left the UAE 45 days ago at the end of his work contract. When he arrived in Dubai, a farmer who left the UAE 45 days ago at the end of his work contract. When he arrived in Dubai, a farmer who left the UAE 45 days ago at the end of his work contract.